Auburn Hills, MI - December 04, 2012 - Eternal Energy is revolutionizing the energy supplement market by offering a premium energy shot at Walmart for nearly 1/3 the cost of the leading national brand.

"For years, energy shot customers have been forced to spend upwards of three dollars for a shot that actually works." said Andrew Krause, President of LXR Biotech, LLC; the producers of Eternal Energy Shot. "We developed Eternal Energy Shot with a goal of providing a cost effective alternative with absolutely no compromise in quality or effectiveness."

With sales steadily moving towards 1 million bottles per month, Eternal Energy Shot boasts a superior and better tasting formula than their billionaire competitors, at a price that promotes high volumes and happy customers. Just a quick glimpse at the many enthusiastic testimonials on the company's facebook page shows the positive category impact of the product.

In addition to it's great taste and price, Eternal Energy Shot has developed an improved energy shot formula. This improved formula includes premium ingredients such as: the breakthrough antioxidant quercetin, jitter-reducing l-theanine, and immune system boosting vitamin c.
